NEWS FROM THE SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH

Celebrating St. Joseph Day at Nazareth Academy

In honor of the Feast of St. Joseph on March 19, our beloved Nazareth Academy once again welcomed sisters and others from the Congregation as guest lecturers in a variety of classrooms during the week of March 18 - 22.

After a two year-hiatus due to Covid restrictions, we were happy to return to this joint initiative which focuses on how academic subjects intertwine with the mission and charism of the Congregation of St. Joseph. The sisters and staff were able to engage with students in Theology, Science and Social Studies classes.

“By visiting our classrooms and engaging with our students on a variety of important topics, the sisters’ charism of living and working to bring all people into union with God and with one another is powerfully demonstrated,” said Principal Therese Hawkins. “We are grateful to the sisters for their continued sponsorship of Nazareth Academy and we know that our students’ lives are forever impacted by these incredibly forward thinking and dynamic women.”

Sister Kathy Sherman talked to seniors about care of Earth and integral ecology.

Sister Pat Bergen spoke to three classes about joining the global movement for peace and justice.

Sister Sarah Simmons talked to freshman about Laudato Si' and our charism of inclusion.

Executive Director of CSJ Ministries, Theresa Denton spoke to juniors about weaving a future together.

Life at Joseph House

< During Lent this year, Sisters living at our LaGrange Park center gathered on Fridays with Sisters Jackie Schmitz and Carol Crepeau to pray, reflect and share. The Gospel of Matthew 25 - when I was hungry, thirsty, homeless, naked, sick, in prison - was the focus of their time together. This text is sometimes called the “no excuses” teaching of Jesus because no matter what our situation in life, Jesus calls us to reach out to our sisters and brothers in need. The participants, including Sisters Michele Elfering (above with microphone) and Pat Willems (seated), gifted some of their favorite pieces of clothing to those in need. Staff member Joe Dowling collected the donations. At left, Sister Janet Bolger shares her reflection.

^ During Easter week, Sisters Sarah Simmons and Kathy Brazda, along with Father Stan Chu Ilo, participated in the Holy Thursday ritual of feet washing during Mass in our Chapel.

Network Celebrates 50th Anniversary

This year, Network Lobby for Catholic Social Justice is celebrating 50 years of promoting the common good by lobbying for social justice rooted in Catholic Social Teaching in our nation's capitol. The Congregation of St. Joseph has long supported and been engaged with Network, starting with our own Sister Catherine Pinkerton - who served as Network's chief lobbyist for over 25 years working to ensure that all people living in the U.S. had access to healthcare and housing - through today with Executive Director Mary Novak, who is also an Associate of the Congregation.

In April, Sister Sallie Latkovich, a member of the Congregational Leadership Team and longtime friend of Sister Catherine's before she passed away in 2017, attended Network's Justice Ablaze Gala in Washington D.C. where several individuals were recognized with the Catherine Pinkerton Legacy Award. This award honors people and organizations who work to change structures that cause poverty and inequality. During the event, Sister Helen Prejean paid tribute to Network's influence on her to become an agent for change, and to their crucial, ongoing work in advocating for better, more just politics.

Employee Service Recognition

In May, employees at our LaGrange Park center were recognized at a Milestone Anniversary Celebration to thank them for their dedication and years of service to the Congregation of St. Joseph. Due to the pandemic, it was the first time in two years that employees and sisters were able to gather together in our Chapel for this event. We are so grateful for these wonderful team members!

TEACH

On May 24, sisters attended the 11th annual benefit gala for TEACH (Tutoring English to Advance Change), a member of the Congregation of St. Joseph's Mission Network. TEACH works toward systemic change by empowering English language learners to build their strengths and effective use of their voice. TEACH also provides one-on-one tutoring for U.S. citizenship exam preparation, and works to ensure inclusion of those typically excluded, under-represented or undervalued. This year's Gala theme was "Celebration of Cultural Unity" and was the first in-person event in over two years due to the pandemic.

TEACH was founded in 1993 by the sisters to help the growing immigrant population's inclusion into the community. Constantine Bitsas, Executive Director of TEACH, said, "We continue to be so grateful for the ongoing support of the Congregation of St. Joseph and for the individual sisters who tutor and support us in so many ways."

Facilitator: Diarmuid O'Murchu

The COVID-19 virus shook the world and created social, political, and economic turmoil. This retreat will explore the theological and spiritual implications of this turmoil. Through input, dialogue and small group process, Diarmuid O'Murchu, missionary and social psychologist, will facilitate a participative program.

Many Voices Made of Longing

Sunday, July 31, 7 p.m. – Friday, August 5, 4 p.m.

Facilitator: Christine Koellhoffer, IHM

The poet Rainer Maria Rilke reminds us that our blood is alive with many voices telling us we are made of longing. Their call is to a profound listening so we might mine the divine desire for us as well as our own ache for communion and belonging. How might we serve as fields of healing presence for all creation, for our beautiful yet wounded world?
